TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Rijswijk, 22 February 2016

Subject: Changes in Dutch customs regulations – Aviation

Dear Supplier/Contractor of goods or services to Wintershall Noordzee B.V.,

We would like to draw your attention to the upcoming changes in Dutch customs regulations impacting the Dutch Oil and Gas Industry as from 01 March 2016: “All delivered goods shall have to comply with the relevant regulations, including, but not limited to, Regulation No 2913/92 and the European Union Customs Code (Regulation 952/2013)”.

These changes will impact us as operators but will also have a significant impact on you as supplier/contractor when delivering goods or services for our offshore installations. It shall be noted that already as of 01 January 2016 onwards more electronic information is required.

The main consequence is that all customs declarations are to be performed in a digital manner, containing more detailed material information (per line item) and should be available at least 24 hours before loading the helicopter. This increased level of detail includes, but is not limited to:

- 10-digit commodity code (<http://tarief.douane.nl/tariff/index.jsf>);
- Value of each item;
- gross weight, net weight and packing unit.

Failure to provide customs with the required level of detail in a timely manner or not having a customs warehouse will result in goods being retained by customs at the point of unloading. This will have significant impact on both airport operations as well as the timely availability of your materials and avoidable costs.
